HR Peer Groups by MPI bring together successful HR Executives from non-competitive organizations to form a safe and confidential space to learn, share ideas and overcome challenges. Peer Groups are guided by an expert executive coach from MPI to help members improve their individual and organizational performance as well as build general leadership and management expertise.

Peer Groups meet 6 times per year. Working together, you and your group develop a range of options and solutions to solve problems, evaluate opportunities and work on an assortment of strategic and operational issues.

Why Join This Group?

Your Peer Group unleashes the enormous potential that comes from an assembled group of high performing business executives, all with common expertise in the human resources field.

No topic is off limits. Whether the question is operational, financial, legal, structural or even personal, your MPI group is a confidential and safe forum of experienced executives who rely on each other for wisdom, advice and counsel.

If you are willing to speak candidly about your challenges and opportunities, the wealth of experience surrounding you likely means that at least one member has dealt with the situations you are facing right now.

Educational workshops integrated into each session drive structured continuous learning and development covering topics chosen by the Group members.

Bottom line– You'll receive unique perspective, functional advice and a definitive action plan in each session. And you can be sure your peers will keep you accountable and moving forward.

Quick Summary

- Peer Groups consist of non-competitive, successful HR Executives.
- Peer Group leadership–the Group is led by an MPI Executive Coach, and accomplished business leader and practitioner.
- Six, 4-hour meetings per year to address opportunities and challenges, evaluate alternatives, create an action plan and maintain accountability for forward progress.
- All 6 meetings include an Educational Workshop on trends in business leadership and management, covering topics selected by the Group members.

Your MPI Executive Coach

The role of your Peer Group Executive Coach is to drive effective group conversations and ensure that every bit of experience and wisdom in the group is drawn out and applied to the session.

The Executive Coaches are accomplished leaders. They are part facilitator, part coach and totally committed to the success of group members. They help stimulate thinking, frame issues, guide discussions, and inspire accountability in the group.
